

King, Queen Of Fair Named

KING AND QUEEN — Lou McFarland (center) represented Circleville Jaycees in presenting trophies to Steve Johnson and Jill Long, king and queen of the 1973 Pickaway County Fair.

Blessed with near perfect weather, opening day of the 1973 Pickaway County Fair activities included selection of the King and Queen, the talent contest, dog show and bicycle rodeo, all junior fair activities.

The 1973 royal couple are Jill Long and Steve Johnson, both Westfall High School products.

Jill, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Long, New Holland, follows in the footsteps of her older sister Kim, who was queen of the 1971 Pickaway County Fair. She represented Perry Farmers of Tomorrow 4-H Club.

Steve is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alf Johnson, Williamsport. He represented the Westfall Wranglers 4-H Club.

The alternates are James Fosnaugh, representing the Colt and Equitation

Club, and Pamela Route, representing Equestrian Cloverleaf Riders. A graduate of Logan Elm, Fosnaugh is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fosnaugh, Jefferson Addition. Pamela is a graduate of Teays Valley High School and is the daughter of Mrs. Virginia Route, Route 1, Orient.

The winner of the Junior Fair talent contest was Doug Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don M. Martin, Route 1, Ashville. Representing Jackson Livestock, the 12-year-old lad was a hit with the audience with his humorous monologue on his experiences in Kindergarten and the first grade.

Joyce LaFontaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe LaFontaine, Route 1, was second in the talent contest with a gymnastic routine performed on the parallel bars.

Jeff Dotson and Peggy Riffle of the Jackson Livestock were third, singing a medley of songs. The judges named Valerie Fugitt of Saltcreek Sew and Serve 4-H Club fourth for her presentation of a poem.

A dance routine presented by Cindy Herrick, Jesse Woodruff and June Rainier of Alice's Angels 4-H Club was the fifth place winner in the talent contest.

P. J. Ryal was master of ceremonies for the king and queen contest and talent show. While waiting for the judges' decisions, he entertained the capacity crowd in the grandstand with a sing-a-long.

Judges of the talent show were Bob Nelson, Chillicothe; Mrs. E. V.

Graves, Kingston, and Charlie Clark, Ross County 4-H agent.

Judges of the king and queen contest were Jo Hamilton, a teacher in Circleville schools and the former Miss Delaware in the Miss Ohio Pageant, Vicki Martin of Chillicothe, Dick Coyle and Ron Thompson of the Ohio Highway Patrol.

Today's activities include miscellaneous 4-H project judging, the 4-H Pony and Horse Show, Home economics clothing judging, grange display judging, Flower Show, Brown Swiss Show, Holstein District 5 Show, Junior Fair Style Review and in the grandstand, the Clay Hart Show. Laotian Pact Gives Reds 80 Per Cent Of Nation VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Premier Souvanna Phouma and the Communist Pathet Lao have reached a political and military agreement leaving the Communists controlling 80 per cent of Laos.

The North Vietnamese were left apparently undisturbed along the Ho Chi Minh trail to South Vietnam.

The Pathet Lao announced Sunday night that the agreement also provides for a coalition government and the withdrawal of all foreign forces within 60 days. Since the Communists have never admitted there are any North Vietnamese in the country, the withdrawal provision was expected to apply only to the 17,000 Thai mercenaries the United States has been paying to fight for the Vientiane government and to about 350 American military advisers.

Prince Souvanna Phouma, the 72-year-old neutralist who has been premier for 11 years, will head the new government. His half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, who is the leader of the Pathet Lao, is expected to be named senior deputy premier. A rightist official of the Vientiane government, possibly Interior Minister Pheng Phongsavang, will be named junior deputy premier.

The signing of the agreement is expected late this week, at a time that astrologers agree is auspicious.

The political agreement was reached after five months of negotiations that began with the cease-fire Feb. 21 between the royal army and the Pathet Lao. Unlike the cease-fire in South Vietnam, the truce in Laos has been generally effective, with almost no continuation of fighting reported.

The agreement provides for the opposing Communist and rightist

Libyan Missiles Worry U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officers are concerned that surface-to-air missiles installed by Libya near its coast could spell danger for American military planes patrolling the Mediterranean.

They recall that an unarmed U.S. Air Force C130 plane on an electronic reconnaissance mission was attacked over international waters by two Libyan jet fighters last March. The American plane escaped unharmed by ducking into a cloud.

Libya has claimed the right to restrict foreign aircraft flights within a 100-mile radius of its capital, Tripoli. The United States has rejected this claim.

Pentagon sources report that U.S. Navy patrol planes cruising over the Mediterranean recently detected evidence that surface-to-air missile sites are operational at Okba-Ibn-Nafa Airfield on the Libyan coast east of Tripoli.

The patrol planes picked up emissions from radar equipment used to track targets and guide missiles towards those targets.

American military experts have identified the missiles as Soviet-manufactured SA2s, the same type fired by the North Vietnamese against U.S. war planes during the Southeast Asian fighting.

The SA2s have a range of about 30 miles and could threaten planes flying over international waters.

factions to control the territory they held at the time of the cease-fire. This recognizes the Communists' hold on 80 per cent of the country's area but only a third of the population. The rightists control the main cities along the Mekong River—Vientiane, Savannakhet and Pakse—where much of the population lives.

The provisional coalition government will include two neutralists, five Pathet Lao and five rightists. The Pathet Lao gets the foreign ministry, while the rightists get the ministries of defense, interior and finance.

"At long last, the diminishing of the Cold War is allowing Laos to play its proper role in the world—a political gray area of no great consequence to East and West," one diplomat said privately.

The accord is to end the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency's support of the war that Gen. Vang Pao's army of Meo tribesmen has been waging against the Pathet Lao. The approximately 1,200 Americans in Laos are to be reduced to about 600, mostly economic, social aid and State Department personnel.

Motorcycle Accident Tragedy Mars Weekend

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies investigated three accidents involving one fatality and two in guarded condition.

The sixth fatality in 1973 for Pickaway County was recorded 4:25 p.m. Saturday on the Circleville-Groveport Road.

According to the report taken by Sheriff's Deputies J. Philip Brown and Billy Huffman, Van Roark Jr. was driving his motorcycle north on Circleville-Groveport Road when the accident occurred.

A car driven by Velma Juanita Blue, 37, Route 1, Circleville, was driving south, when she hit a chicken in the road. Paula Z. Grubb, 29, Ashville, was also driving south, when she noticed the Blue car slowing down after hitting the chicken.

Following behind the Grubb auto, was a truck driven by Glen Glispie, 39, Route 1, Williamsport.

Slowing down to miss the other autos, Glispie's truck apparently went left of center striking Roark on his motorcycle.

Roark was pronounced dead on arrival at Berger Hospital.

The accident is still under investigation.

Roark was an electrician at the Picway Power Plant and had served in the U.S. Navy.

Born September 17, 1946 in West Virginia, he was the son of Van and Bertie Franklin Roark Sr.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Dean Roark; two sons, Trent Edward and Mark Shannon, both of the home; five sisters, Mrs. Barbara Tackett, Kokomo, Ind.; Mrs. Wilma Metz, 430 Ray Ave., Mrs. Lucille Johnson California; Mrs. Lois Hinton, Route 2; Miss Loretta Roark, Kokomo, Ind.; three brothers, Carl Milton, Rushville; Ronnie and Larry, Lancaster; paternal grandmother, Mrs. Risner Roark, Royalton.

Funeral services will be 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at Mader Funeral Home with the Rev. Charles Hill officiating. Burial will be in Darbyville Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 7 p.m. Monday.

Ralph J. Baldwin, 19, Route 2, Circleville, is in intensive care at University Hospital, Columbus, after he was involved in a motorcycle accident on the Tarlton-Adelphi Road reported at 3:42 p.m. Sunday.

According to the report taken by Sheriff's Deputy James Fite Baldwin was found unconscious about an hour after the accident occurred.

Baldwin was driving on the Tarlton-Adelphi Road, just south of Tarlton, when he apparently failed to negotiate a curve.

FATALITY — Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff checks the motorcycle which Van Roark was riding Saturday when it collided with a truck. Roark sustained fatal injuries in the accident.

The motorcycle went off the road into a ditch, causing it to flip over, throwing Baldwin off.

Baldwin received head injuries and is in guarded condition in University Hospital.

Storms Hit Scattered Areas Of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A few thunderstorms rumbled across the northern parts of the nation today and lingered off the east Gulf and south Atlantic coasts.

Elsewhere skies were generally clear with most temperatures in the 60s and 70s before dawn.

As a heavy thunderstorm rolled over Chicago, three young men drowned when their rowboat capsized on the Chicago River.

Rain measured 1 inch at Quincy, Ill., and Panama City, Fla., just after midnight.

A funnel cloud was sighted in northeastern Colorado, but no injuries were reported.

Fog shrouded the South Pacific and north Atlantic coasts early today.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 52 at Eureka, Calif., to 95 at Needles, Calif.

guarded condition at Children's Hospital, Columbus, with contusions and possible internal injuries, when she fell off the pick-up truck her father was driving 7:05 p.m. Sunday.

Leo Gaa, Route 3, Orient, was driving in the Clark Lakes area.

Gaa and his wife, Wilma were riding in the cab of the truck. Rodney K., 12, was sitting inside of the bed of the truck. Karen was standing on the rear bumper and was holding onto a large piece of iron which went across the top of the truck.

Apparently losing her grip, Karen fell onto the road hitting her head.

The accident was investigated by Sheriff's Deputies J. Philip Brown and Ray Ratcliff.

Pickaway County's six fatalities in 1973, are three less than 1972 and seven less than 1971.

Find Body In River; Shot And Bound Up

MILLER, Ohio (AP) — A badly decomposed body of a man pulled from the Ohio River at this eastern Lawrence County town Sunday was trussed with rope and a belt and contained four bullet wounds, deputies said.

Local authorities said the Capbell County, W. Va., sheriff's office had tentatively identified the body as that of Rocco Thompson, 22, of Milton, W. Va.

Midway Chatter

"I know it's a standard statement but the fair is bigger and better than ever," Glen McCoy, president of the fair board said today.

"It started a little slowly, but attendance picked up and by the late afternoon and early evening it looked like one of our best opening day crowds," McCoy said. He reported nearly 1,000 packed the grandstand to see the selection of the king and queen and the talent show.

Exhibiting at the fair turned out to be somewhat less than fun for five members of the Electric Safety 4-H Club. Five electric drill motors and five electronic vari speed controls were stolen from their booth in the Coliseum. Total value of the items was $138. In addition Mark Adkins, Carl DeBruin, Mark Noecker, William Waideich and Scott Warren each had about 20 hours of work in their projects. The theft occurred between 3 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Sunday.

The weatherman smiled on the fair Sunday, and the sun was shining brightly Monday morning. But there is a 70 per cent chance of rain Tuesday. The Columbus weather bureau made the prediction without realizing it is fair week here but he refused to change his forecast when the local weather observer, Bill Blaney, informed him of the fair.

"Pitcher takin'" times for the first place winners in the various competition at the fair are 1 and 6 p.m. daily. The Herald will have a photographer at the Extension office building in the fairgrounds at those times.

Race Secretary John Fissell announced that posttime for the harness races Tuesday has been advanced to 4 p.m. The fair has the largest single day racing program ever.

City Police Arrest Pair On Drug Charge

Two Circleville men were arrested on drug charges Saturday night as a result of an investigation by city police.

David Sadler, 22, rear of 464 E. Franklin St., and Jerry L. Hill, 21, Route 1, Wilson Trailer Court, were arrested and booked at the police department on the related counts.

Hill is in city jail on charges of possession, transportation, possession for sale and selling marijuana. His bond was set at $75,000 pending an appearance in Circleville municipal court.

Sadler was booked on a charge of possession of marijuana and was released on a recognizance bond pending his appearance in municipal court.

According to the report at the police department, search warrants had been obtained for Sadler's house trailer and a 1973 automobile owned by Hill.

Sgt. Wes Barton and Ptl. Ray Dulin spotted Hill's car 10:10 p.m. at Lancaster Pike and Watt St. Hill was driving and Sadler was a passenger in the front seat. The warrant was presented and a search of the car was made.

A paper bag, containing six plastic bags of a substance believed to be marijuana was found in the glove compartment of the auto. A further search turned up 22 doses of LSD under the drivers seat. Hill was placed under arrest by the officers.

Sadler was taken to his residence on E. Franklin St. where a search of the trailer was made by Sgt. Jerry Smallwood and Ptl. Jim Ford, Hugh Black and Mike Rinehart.

Two bags, believed to contain marijuana, were found in the trailer and Sadler was also placed under arrest.

Heavy Battle Rages Around Phnom Penh

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Cambodian military command claims more than 1,000 insurgents have been killed around Phnom Penh's southern defenses since Friday.

It says U.S. bombing and strafing attacks in support of the Cambodian army's counterattacks played a major part in the heavy casualties.

There was no confirmation from any other source of today's casualty claim, one of the biggest ever made by the Cambodian command. Nor did the government say anything about its casualties.

But Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency said insurgent forces wiped out 15 tanks and 365 government troops on Highway 3 on Friday.

Col. Am Rong, the Cambodian command's chief spokesman, said some 60 armored personnel carriers were continuing a successful operation to dislodge the Communist-led rebels from the village of Prateah Lang, eight miles south of the capital.

He claimed that this force and its American air support killed 400 of the insurgents in an eight-hour battle northwest of the village on Sunday.

U.S. B52s and F111, Phantom and Corsair fighter-bombers accounted for another 200 insurgents south of Kompong Tuol, a village two miles behind the front lines, Am Rong said.

The Cambodian counterattack got under way Friday in an attempt to outflank a creeping rebel advance. The government claimed earlier that more than 400 insurgents were wiped out by air strikes in the initial stages of the operation.

Prateah Lang is the western pivot of the capital's southern defense line, and the government armored column has been attempting to sweep behind reinforced Communist battalions that have been pushing slowly up Highway 3 toward Phnom Penh.

Recruiting By Army Said Faulty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Improper recruiting practices have been blamed in an Army Audit Agency report for acceptance into the Army last year of 29,000 persons who later had to be discharged.

The report, disclosed Sunday by Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., said that such improper practices cost the Army an estimated $73 million in fiscal 1972.

The report said the some 29,000 persons were accepted who had to be discharged later "for unsuitability and medical disqualifications that existed prior to service."

According to Aspin the report listed as a major cause of unqualified enlistment "pre-enlistment training" in which recruiters taught prospective volunteers how to pass intelligence tests.

Army Chief of Staff Gen. Creighton W. Abrams said in an interview in U.S. News & World Report that such incidents involved 107 of 4,500 recruiters.

At one induction center, Aspin said, the report indicated large numbers of applicants were taken into the Army without undergoing physical exams.

And he said the report indicated that police record checks were insufficient to weed out persons of questionable moral character.

Abrams said enlistments have not been sufficient to keep the Army at planned strength.

Prime Time Hearings Held

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission today begins two days of hearings on whether to repeal or change its controversial rule limiting network broadcasting by TV stations during prime time.

Over 40 witnesses have been allotted time, including the national and smaller networks, movie producers and actors, station owners, and such organizations as Action for Children's Television and the American Civil Liberties Union.

The prime time rule went into effect in October 1972. It forbids TV stations in the nation's top 50 markets to carry network programs for more than three hours during prime time, 7 to 11 p.m.

Open Letter

Dear friends,
Benjamin Franklin, at the death of his brother, said this: "Our place was not ready and so he has gone on before us; but we shall meet him again because we know where to find him."

The general attitude now toward the loss of loved ones is very much as Franklin expressed it — "They have gone on before." In our profession, we see that faith expressed so frequently in so many beautiful ways.

Man Undergoes Chin Surgery

Twenty-year old Mark D. Miller, of Grove City, was scheduled for surgery this morning on his chin which he injured in a motorcycle accident Sunday morning.

Mr. Carmel Hospital reports Miller is in "fair" condition today.

Highway Patrolman R. L. Daub made an investigation of the accident. He reports Miller apparently was riding his trail bike on a county road in the western section of Pickaway County and had to go into a ditch to avoid a cow which was on the road.

Ptl. Daub established the time of the accident around 5 a.m. Sunday.

Equador, with an estimated 11,000 square miles, is about the size of Nevada.

Earlier Sunday afternoon, a fire in a 1962 model car owned by Charles Smith, 369 Weldon Ave., was extinguished. Children playing with matches ignited the interior of the car. No damage was reported at that 5:10 p.m. fire.

Children and matches were the unfortunate combination causing the 1:35 p.m. fire at the residence of Charles Levan, 359 Barnes Ave. According to the report, children playing in the pigeon loft in a shed at the rear of the property ignited some straw. Two bales of straw were lost.

A carburetor backfire was indicated as the cause of a 2 p.m. fire at 149 E. Union St. The auto, owned by Chester Monroe, same address, suffered about $30 damage from flames.

Firemen responded to a call at the House of Fabrics, 120 W. Main St., at 12:30 Saturday. Employees had called the department reporting smoke in the building. The fire crew discovered a ballast in a fluorescent light fixture to be smoking.

Beef Supply Tightens Across Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Food store owners and managers and meat processors in some parts of Ohio say that customers are demanding more beef, but that the beef market appears to be tightening.

The Kroger Co. and Heinen's Inc. in Cleveland said their warehouses are empty and that some stores are already out of beef. Other supermarket chains in the Cleveland area estimated that they have enough beef to last through the week.

Some Northeastern Ohio meat cutters said they have been notified by supermarkets that there will be cutbacks in working hours and layoffs next week if the situation gets worse.

A Cleveland meat wholesaler said farmers are carrying on their own boycott against those who boycotted meat in April.

"The boycotters last spring made the packers and farmers look silly and now the farmers are getting even. The end product will be higher prices for their products."

Beef sales in Cleveland were brisk amid rumors of a shortage.

"Business is usually slow the last week of the month, said Eagle Supermarkets President Joseph Sirna. "But this week it's just as good as the first week when people usually have the money."

"It's a panic buying," said Ray Reuss, owner of Greenhills Food Storage Locker. "Customers are no longer worried about the price, they just want a side of beef for their freezer. They're sunning scared."

Reuss said he normally sells about 25 sides of beef a week, but now has a waiting list of 250 orders.

Ron Enderle, co-owner of Enderle's Meats, said his firm is "booked up into September with orders for beef sides."

"We've turned away about 20 orders for sides of beef this week," Enderle said. He noted that the store normally sells one side or less a week.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

She's Got A 'Whole' Man

DEAR ABBY: This is concerning "Heartbroken Parents" whose beautiful 28-year-old nurse daughter was marrying a young man who had lost both his legs when he stepped on a mine near Saigon. "She could easily have gotten a 'whole man,'" her mother moaned.

May I tell my story? I am also a nurse. At 24, I married an athlete who thought all women should be kept pregnant and quiet, no matter what their husbands did. After two children and eight years of hell, I divorced him.

Then I married George, who had been paralyzed from his shoulders down for 24 years.

We have been married a year and a half, and I have never felt so loved, respected, honored, and needed. I thank God for every minute that He has allowed me to have with this wonderful man.

Abby, please keep telling people like those parents that it's far worse to marry an emotional cripple than a physical one.

SYLVIA WILLIAMS

DEAR ABBY: What a coincidence! My husband also stepped on a mine in Vietnam and lost both legs.

After spending a year in the hospital, Gary went to law school, where he was elected president of the student bar association. His other honors are too numerous to mention here. He is a partner in a prominent law firm, and is very active in community affairs. He plays golf, dances, drives a car, and does everything every other normal, healthy man does. He's a good provider, and we have a lovely home and three healthy children. The youngest two were born after his accident.

Gary Forment is more "whole" than some men will ever be.

GARY'S WIFE, ORLANDO, FLA.

DEAR ABBY: This is for Heartbroken Parents: About 10 years ago a gentleman at a party asked me to dance. I recall thinking that I had danced with better dancers. That is all.

When I got to know him, I was amazed to learn that he was brought up with the slums of Philadelphia, and had lost both legs above the knees under a freight train when he was 12. He refused to let this defeat him, and through hard work and determination he became hugely successful. He married a charming, intelligent woman, and they have wonderful children. This man has earned the admiration and respect of all who know him. Today he is the president of a thriving company, and he walks tall on two artificial limbs.

I would say he is not only a "whole" man; he is a man and a half.

HIS FRIEND IN L.A.

DEAR ABBY: "Heartbroken Parents" would classify my husband as a "whole man." He is good-looking, beautiful, muscular, and he has a good mind. But according to my definition, he is far from whole because he lacks the qualities that make a real man. (Kindness, maturity, tenderness, sobriety, integrity.) His character is rotten, and his selfishness is not to be believed.

I'm not complaining. I married him for better or worse. I just want to tell that nurse how fortunate she is to be marrying a double amputee she knows to be beautiful on the inside. He will make her much happier than a lesser man of physical perfection.

Administration Raps FTC Move Against Oil Companies

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the first administration response to antitrust action against major oil producers, a Treasury Department official has warned that breaking up the giant companies could aggravate the gasoline shortage.

William E. Simon, who heads the administration's petroleum allocation program, said Friday that a shortage of refinery capacity is "one of the main problems today." He added, "I believe that this shortage could be made worse by divestiture."

The Federal Trade Commission, an independent regulatory agency, last week filed the antitrust action without specifying its proposed relief.

But the agency's top antitrust staffer said he couldn't imagine relief which does not include significant divestiture by the nation's eight major oil companies, which dominate all phases of the industry.

Simon, a deputy secretary of the treasury, estimated it will cost about $15 billion in new refinery capacity over the next 12 years to keep up with petroleum demand.

Fringe Benefits Top Bargaining By Most Unions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor Department officials say controls on wages are leading workers to stress cost-of-living clauses, bigger pensions and earlier retirement when they bargain for new contracts.

The department said Friday that despite surging consumer prices, major labor contracts negotiated in the first six months of 1973 were close to the Nixon administration's 5.5 per cent wage guidelines.

It said the average salary increase was 5.8 per cent, down from the 7.3 per cent average gain for all of 1972.

Fringe benefits, not wages, are apparently becoming the prime negotiating issues in collective bargaining sessions, said department officials. They said this may be because of a belief among workers that the administration would reject any wage settlements too far out of line.

Belgium is called the cockpit of Europe because it has been the scene of many wars.

"Who has the ability to build these refineries? For the most part, the integrated oil companies," he told the Senate subcommittee on antitrust and monopoly.

"If a major suit were undertaken to separate these companies from their refineries, I have serious reservations about whether the capital could be attracted for expansion of the industry," said Simon, a deputy secretary of the treasury.

The industry has denied the FTC's allegations that the majors inflicted the heaviest burden of the petroleum shortage on independents through alleged anticompetitive practices.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who chaired the subcommittee hearings, said, "Only the consumers and the independents suffered from the shortage."

Kennedy said the major companies reaped windfall profits, citing recent earnings reports showing profits up 24 per cent for Phillips Petroleum and 54 per cent for Exxon, the nation's largest oil company.

Kennedy pressed Simon and John A. Love, President Nixon's newly appointed director of energy policy, for assurances that a promised new oil allocation program will protect independents in the industry and provide adequate supplies of fuel oil for the winter.

Love said the program will be announced early next week and said it will be equitable.

Pipeline Nearer

Early completion of Alaska pipeline legislation by Congress now appears to be assured, and work on this long-delayed but urgently-needed project is expected to be started before the end of the year. Even so, oil men say it will be at least 3½ years before Alaska crude starts flowing to Valdez to be loaded on tankers for West Coast ports.

With no further snags to construction of the pipeline in sight, the question is being asked, why did it take so long? The question defies an easy answer, but there is no doubt the gasoline shortage of this summer provided the impetus needed to get congressional action.

When the pipeline is in operation, and if Alaska wells produce oil in the quantities envisioned, the nation's petroleum squeeze will be eased but not eliminated. There seems little doubt that by 1976 the U.S. will be much more heavily dependent upon Arabian oil than at present.

No one predicts that Alaska will be able to replace all the oil from Arab countries. But without oil from Alaska this country would be in dire straits to meet its fuel needs in a very few years.

Scrambled History

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

It beats all how history can get scrambled from short memories.

A number of commentators have rightly objected to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's rejection of G. McMurtree Godley as Assistant Secretary of State for East Asian Affairs. Senator J. William Fulbright, the committee chairman, said he had no particular criticism of Godley's abilities, but along with eight other committee members, including three Republican doves, Fulbright was against promoting a man who had done his best to carry out official State Department policy as Ambassador to Laos from 1969 to 1972. Godley's sin was that he had been too faithful to his task, which was to keep Laos from succumbing completely to the North Vietnamese.

It was indeed an outrage that Fulbright's committee perpetrated at Godley's expense. But when the commentators raked up the ghost of "McCarthyism" to condemn Fulbright, the parallel, while well intended, broke down completely. In the first place, the jettisoning of Godley was not comparable in any way to the demotions and dismissals of John Davies, John Stewart Service, John Emmerson and other "old China hands" some 25 years ago.

Davies, Service, and Emmerson had done precisely what "Mac" Godley did not do: they had gone against official policies in China, making things extremely difficult for our Ambassador to Chungking, Pat Hurley, and our Far Eastern theatre military commander, General Albert Wedemeyer. Wedemeyer never accused Davies and Service of disloyalty to the U.S., but he did think they were guilty of "either consciously or unwittingly disseminating exaggerated or false, Communist-inspired reports concerning the Nationalist Government (of China) designed to stir up all manner of Sino-American distrust."

Granting for the sake of argument that Davies and Service were farsighted about the inability of Chiang Kai-shek to retain control of China, it still remains true that they were not in line with President Franklin D. Roosevelt's Far Eastern policy as of 1945. The Fulbright-dominated Foreign Relations Committee has done something that Joe McCarthy never did: it has penalized a good man for doing his sworn duty to carry out a mission decided upon by his superiors in Washington.

Furthermore, in dragging in the name of Joe McCarthy the well-meaning commentators on the Fulbright treatment of Godley have gotten their time sequences all mixed up. The truth is that McCarthy had nothing to do with the so-called "hounding" of Davies, Service, and Company. It was long before McCarthy appeared on the scene that the FBI broke into the offices of Amerasia magazine to recover 1,800 government documents bearing on our wartime China policy. John Stewart Service was arrested along with Emanuel Larsen of the State Department and others on a charge of passing out government secrets. An indictment was later returned against Larsen, but the charge against Service was dismissed.

The point to be raised here is that the "McCarthyism" directed against John Stewart Service happened before McCarthy had ever been elected to the Senate. It was Isaac Don Levine's Plain Talk magazine, a predecessor of Bill Buckley's National Review, that first exposed the Amerasia case in depth. Plain talk was bankrolled by Alfred Kohlberg, a textile importer who gloried in being called the head of the "China Lobby." If anyone is to be censured for Pat Hurley's and General Wedemeyer's private assessments of the behavior of Service, Davies and the other anti-State-Department-policy "China hands," the commentators on the Godley case should have invoked the names of Levine and Kohlberg. Kohlberg is dead, but Levine would gladly defend himself as a believer that State Department representatives in the field should support official policy.

This column holds no brief for Joe McCarthy's methods of research. Joe had a most defective grasp of arithmetic, and nobody had ever taught him the difference between a direct English statement and a nuance. But it was in the autumn of 1945 that Ambassador Pat Hurley wrote a letter to President Harry Truman explaining why he had requested the return to America of John Davies, John Stewart Service, Raymond Ludden and others for doing the exact opposite of what the faithful Godley did in Laos.

The villains in the Godley case are J. William Fulbright and his Foreign Relations Committee majority. Why bring up the name of McCarthy?

High Asbestos Fiber Count Noted In Lake Superior

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Asbestos fibers are flowing from taps in all Minnesota and Wisconsin communities which draw water from Lake Superior, a federal agency reports.

The highest concentration was at Two Harbors, where the count was 2.6 million asbestos fibers per liter. That compares with 1.9 million at Beaver Bay and 948,000 at Duluth, said Dr. Warren Muri, staff member of the federal Council on Environmental Quality which made the study.

Muri said researchers used 450-power optical microscopes which detected fibers down to 5 microns in length. He said larger counts probably would be obtained with more powerful microscopes.

In a report released on Wednesday, the council also said drinking water drawn at Superior, Wis., from deep wells under the lake showed 82,000 asbestos fibers per liter.

The report said the concentration of asbestos fibers at Silver Bay, a community near Beaver Bay, was 296,000 per liter. Silver Bay is the home of Reserve Mining Co. Reserve's taconite plant has been cited by the federal Environmental Protection Agency as the prime source of asbestos fibers in the lake.

The Council on Environmental Quality study and others by various state and federal agencies began when the EPA announced in mid June that it had found asbestos fibers in the water supplies of Duluth and three other communities on Lake Superior.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Many times parents purchase their youngsters BB or pellet guns. I have found from teaching Hunter Safety Classes that a very small percent of these children receive proper instruction on how to use it, safely handle it and what not to shoot with it such as song birds and protected game species except when in season. So many parents don't take the time and then add to the problem by allowing them to take the guns out without adult supervision which is in direct violation of state law.

Due to this lack of supervision and carelessness I lost a three week old deer fawn valued at $150 and of much more value to my family since it was the first deer fawn born in Pickaway County in captivity. This fawn was shot with a .22 caliber pellet gun in a fenced area on my property last weekend. Just because some misguided individual didn't have anything more to do but, shoot a baby deer and cause its death. For what reason no one knows. I just hope some child isn't injured by this careless person while playing in its yard.

I can assure the individual that if the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department or Tom Weldon local Game Protector can locate the person who did shoot the fawn, he will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

In my neighborhood we have problems with dogs running loose doing considerable damage to sheep, chickens, ducks etc. but, yet there is a state law which states all dogs must be confined to the owners property or the owner may be fined. Here again no one seems to want to take the time or even worry about what their children or dogs do except when they cause damage and are caught. I don't mean to criticize all parents or all dog owners. But, the one per cent who don't care are the problem.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Do you believe women will ever be truly liberated from the ominous messages of advertisements claiming they are constant sufferers from "iron deficiency"?

Mrs. W.J., Mich.

Dear Mrs. J.:

You are enlarging the visionary horizons of "Women's Lib" by your rightful revolt against this unrealistic and unscientific concept.

Women have been subtly and overtly bombarded with the insinuation that their fatigue is due to their tendency to lose iron more readily than do men.

The result is extensive commercial exploitation of this concept and the recommendation that "iron and iron-containing" products are a must for all women if they are to be relieved of many of the physical problems that distress them.

I have always believed that a 240-lb. wrestler and weight-lifter would be exhausted if he took on one-fifth of his wife's daily household duties. What are some of these duties?

Cleaning, cooking, washing, ironing, marketing, caring for children, driving them to and from school, rushing to the cleaner's, keeping medical appointments for the family, helping with the homework, tending the garden, supervising their children's visitors, arranging for the plumber, the electrician, and the painter.

Then, at the end of an exhausting day, she is expected to look fresh and sparkling and exude charm as she serves a well-cooked dinner to her husband.

Iron is not the answer. A couple of hours of good rest is what the average housewife needs each day.

Since iron can be purchased without a prescription, it further influences the massive sale to the women who do not need it.

There is a very definite medical condition known as "iron deficiency anemia." This diagnosis can be determined only by the study of the blood. When it is found to be present, iron is then prescribed by physicians to counteract the anemia.

When doctors find that iron replacement or iron reinforcement is necessary they frequently suggest that ordinary inexpensive ferrous sulfate may be the answer to the problem.

Expensive iron products add an unnecessary burden to the family budget, and serves only to increase the psychological fatigue that accompanies the basic problem.

While iron is a most important factor in sustained good health, its value is abused when taken in the absence of a distinct medical need.

Do you think karate is a dangerous sport?

Mr. L.G., Calif.

Dear Mr. G.:

Karate and many of its variations have some hazardous potentials.

Those who are highly trained know the damage that a single blow can cause if used without proper restraint.

Youngsters who become overenthusiastic have been known to suffer from, and to have inflicted, severe damage to the liver and spleen while learning this sport. With good supervision karate can be an excellent exercise.

NEW YORK (AP) — Summer is the best season to study double talk.

This is the language most vacation resort literature is written in, and it is also the language most returning vacationers use to describe what a fine time they had on their holidays, no matter how bad a time they really had.

Double talk, as you no doubt recall, is the art of saying one thing while actually thinking another. More than at any other time of the year, however, in summer it is hard to tell the difference between double talk, which is usually only genteel hypocrisy, from downright lying.

Here are a few examples. First, in quotes, the double talk is given. It is followed in each case by a translation which tells the truth of the matter.

"Our resort has a lovely scenic setting from which you have an unobstructed view of the nearby beach and, of course, the ocean itself."—But to see any of these things you have to go up on the roof, which has a tar and gravel covering that makes it unsuitable for sun bathing.

"Our swimming pool is a perfect aquamarine gem."—But it's so small that two's company, three's a crowd. "Spend an unforgettable weekend with us."—That's when it usually rains, and you don't have much to do but sit around and remember better times you've had elsewhere.

"Avoid the mob and come during the week."—We have so few guests then that the hash we serve on Mondays usually lasts until Friday.

"Doesn't the idea of a vacation free from insect bites appeal to you?"—If it does, don't come now. Be our guest next February, and don't forget your skis. We've built the molehill on the two acres behind us into a mountain.

"Well, the reason me and my wife went there was because the fishing is great."—No, we didn't catch any ourselves, but I saw one guy reel in three in a row, each of them at least five inches long.

"I remember one stretch of highway where we averaged at least 35 miles to a gallon of gas."—It was all downhill, and we coasted.

"Here you won't be treated as a mere guest but as a member of the family."—You won't mind using the same towel for two weeks, will you? The rest of the family doesn't.

"Don't think you'll be a wallflower if you come by yourself. Our resort appeals especially to singles."—Most of them are widows over 70, or widowers and swinging bachelors over 65.

"You'll be thinking about your stay with us for years."—And cursing with every sentence.

Senate OKs Rail Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted to spend $210 million to keep the nation's financially troubled railroads on the track.

The bill, if enacted, would authorize the Department of Transportation to spend the money to keep lines that fail in operation.

It is part of a package drafted by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., to prevent further deterioration of railroad service in the Northeast and Midwest.

During the debate, Hartke said $125 million would be used to pay off a federally guaranteed loan obtained by the nowbankrupt Penn Central in 1970. However, his office later issued a statement noting, "the bill does pay off past government obligations of the Penn Central and other bankrupts, as is currently reported in some quarters."

The vote was 59 to 30. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Rep. Brown Sounds Political Waters

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, has been making political soundings around the state preparing for the 1974 elections. The Urbana congressman may decide to try for the GOP nomination for U.S. Senate if Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, doesn't run again. Saxbe has been an on again, off again candidate for the last several months. The way Brown, 45-year-old five-term member of the House from the Seventh District, sees it, the picture remains clouded. Saxbe may decide to run for governor but former Gov. James A. Rhodes has already filed to run again. GOP strategists reportedly have been skeptical of poor showings Rhodes has made in polls against Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan. But, they are encouraged that the same polls show Saxbe with a far better chance to defeat Gilligan.

They suggested that Rhodes, nearly 64 and owner of a successful real estate firm, perhaps will consider retiring from politics. Rhodes, spurred onward by an Ohio Supreme Court decision that upheld his eligibility to run for governor again, said he has no plans to run for the Senate. He lost the GOP senatorial nomination in May 1970, to Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, of Cincinnati. Brown indicated that what Rhodes decides to do will be crucial to the GOP ballot picture next year, and that it may be some time before that decision is made.

"Things probably won't be clear until the late, late fall," the congressman said. He said he expects to be asked by State Republican Chairman Kent B. McGough to appear before the party's candidate recruiting committee but has not yet done so.

"I had a letter from Kent, saying that I would be invited at some later date," Brown said. The committee is seeking to reach a consensus on what would be the best slate of GOP state and congressional candidates.

Speculation about Saxbe's future plans started about two years ago when he sold his Washington home and later when he purchased property in Costa Rica. The future leans first one way and then the other with the result that no one—perhaps including the senator—seems to know for sure.

Brown meanwhile, plans to continue his travels throughout the state in the next weeks and months. Asked if he would be around Columbus often, the congressman replied: "Maybe not so much around Columbus, but definitely around the state."

Ohio Lawmakers Hit Ethics Snag

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio lawmakers wound up most major business of the 1973 session early Saturday after passing two major pay raise bills, including raises for members of the legislature.

They ran aground, however, on an embattled code of ethics bill—Gov. John Gilligan's No. 1 legislative priority—and put it into a deep freeze at least until late August.

Both houses adjourned until Aug. 14 when a housekeeping session is planned. The full membership is slated to return Aug. 27 for a "working session" to act on the ethics bill and any others the leadership decides to call up for consideration.

In its final roll call vote early today, the Senate passed 26-5 a weakened ethics bill that touched off a flurry of floor debate over a committee amendment that would have included Ohio newspaper and broadcast executives in its financial disclosure provisions.

Sen. Donald E. Lukens, R-4 Middletown, was the sparkplug behind the move he said was needed to bring Ohio "corporations and news conglomerates" into the ranks of public officials who would have to divulge their financial interests under the bill. Lukens contended the news media has a strong influence in the shaping of public opinion and does not have to answer questions about its motivations.

Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, sponsored a successful floor amendment that took the news media out of the bill. It was adopted by a vote of 21-10.

The House had adjourned by the time the Senate acted on the ethics bill. Rep. Charles E. Fry, R-75 Springfield, a House sponsor, said he expects the House will consider the Senate version of the bill when lawmakers return in late August.

The House and Senate came to prompt agreement on bills raising the pay of an estimated 70,000 state employees—including those at state universities and in county welfare departments—along with Ohio's elected officials, judges, and members of the General Assembly.

If approved by the governor, state workers will begin getting their increases next Wednesday. It would be either 25 cents an hour, or five per cent, whichever is greater.

The bill carries a price tag of about $62 million.

FUN FOR EVERYONE — Members and guests of Pickaway Senior Center from teenage to 102 enjoyed a picnic Thursday at Ted Lewis Park. The afternoon was spent playing cards and other games.

Senior Citizens, Guests Picnic At Ted Lewis Park

The large shelter house at Ted Lewis Park was the site of a noon picnic for 70 members and guests of Pickaway Senior Center Thursday.

Special guests for the day were two visitors from Alton, Hampshire, England, Mrs. Jack Vince and her daughter, Sheila, who are visiting the Fred Howell's. Mrs. Vince and Connie Howell are sisters. Also attending with her mother, Hazel Cline, was Gertrude Cline of Raleigh, N. Carolina, and Eva Heffelfinger had her grandchildren, Sue and Paul Heffelfinger, as her guests. Attending with the John Mirandas was a neighbor, Miss Renee Smallwood.

After the picnic, many of those attending played cards or just visited. Mrs. Minnie Heise, who will be 103 on Sept. 29th, was the center of attraction for everyone. By way of taking registration, everyone guessed how many beans were in a glass jar. Winning the prize for coming the closest was Miss Martha Hitler. Also prize winners in playing games were Mrs. Alton Stonerock and Mrs. Marge Patton.

In the absence of tour chairman, Mrs. Fannie Brooks, Mrs. Lorentz announced that the people going to see "Tecumseh" on the evening of Aug. 1st, should assemble at the Trinity Lutheran church parking lot on E. Union St. This change is necessary because of the Pickaway County Fair going on at the Fairgrounds, and the Center will be parking cars for the Fair. Mrs. Brooks also asked that it be announced that plans for all trips scheduled are going forward as originally planned. None have been cancelled. Those eligible to go on the Nettle Creek trip on Aug. 14th must have their money in by Aug. 7th.

Mrs. Lorentz also asked for volunteers to help with the parking of cars during the Fair. Mrs. Blanche Kerns, chairman of the Smorgasbord committee, announced that this supper would be held Sept. 20th in the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church Service Center. She asked for volunteers to furnish food and to sell tickets. Help will also be needed the day of the supper. Anyone wishing more information may call Mrs. Kerns at 474-5406.

The next monthly meeting will be held Thursday, Aug. 23rd in the Trinity Lutheran Church Parish House.

The Center has half-price Senior Citizen tickets for the Ohio State Fair. These are not available at the gates in Columbus. Anyone who is age 55 or older is eligible to purchase one at the Pickaway Senior Center, 430 Lancaster Pike. They will be available there until Aug. 31st.

The Center is also sponsoring a bus to the State Fair on Sept. 1st. Members wishing to go should call the Center and make a reservation immediately.

Clifford Irving To Seek Parole

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clifford Irving, jailed for duping a publisher with a fake biography of billionaire recluse Howard Hughes, carried a plea for freedom to the U.S. Parole Board today.

The world was startled at Irving's claim in late 1971 that he had conducted clandestine interviews with Hughes and that his book bore Hughes' authorization.

The story gained credence when a leading publishing house, McGraw-Hill, bought the book and turned over $765,000 in advance payments to the 42-year-old writer.

But as publication drew close, Hughes took a rare step from seclusion and issued a public denial of Irving's claims. In the ensuing investigation, Irving's story crumbled and he admitted the hoax.

In June 1972, Irving was convicted of conspiracy to defraud and sentenced to 2½ years in prison. He was jailed last Aug. 28 and is confined at the Federal Correctional Institute in Danbury, Conn.

At today's hearing, a closed session, the board will consider for the first time whether to parole Irving, who has repaid McGraw-Hill about $450,000 of the amount paid him. Courts have not yet decided whether he must repay the balance.

The board also scheduled consideration of whether to free four of the seven Ku Klux Klan members convicted of charges stemming from the 1964 murder of three young civil rights workers in Mississippi.

The Ku Klux Klan case involved the slayings of Andrew Chaney, Michael Schwerner and Jay Goodman, in Meridian, Miss., in June 1964 when they were campaigning for black civil rights at the height of racial upheavals in the South.

Seven KKK members were charged under civil rights laws with planning and accomplishing the murders and

River Being Dragged For Young Man's Body

OLD FORT, Ohio (AP) — The Seneca County sheriff's department began dragging the Sandusky River near here Sunday night for the body of a young man who witnesses said fell from a canoe.

The witnesses said the canoe tipped over in about 12 feet of water.

Kroger Pact Announced

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A Kroger spokesman announced Sunday that representatives of the company and striking members of Teamsters Local 100 have reached an agreement in the salary dispute which forced 33 area stores to close and 34 to operate on limited hours.

William Whiting, a Kroger advertising manager, said the agreement must be ratified by the Teamsters to go into effect. He said he expected a vote sometime this week. He declined to give details of the agreement.

No agreement has been reached with workers from other unions striking Krogers in sympathy with the Teamsters, Whiting said.

Despite the strike, Whiting said 34 Kroger stores open on limited hours will reopen fulltime today. He said he expected some of the stores closed last week to reopen later in the week.

The strike began July 22 when members of Teamsters Local 100 voted not to report to work because of a conflict over a new three-year contract.

Rites Indefinite For Rickenbacker

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A definite date still has not been set for the burial here of Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, the World War I ace who died last Monday in Zurich, Switzerland.

The ashes of Rickenbacker, a Columbus native and former president of Eastern Airlines, probably will be flown here sometime this week, according to Dennis Klatt, local district manager of the airlines.

Plans for the Columbus trip reportedly were dependent upon the health of Rickenbacker's widow, who was too ill to attend memorial services Friday at Key Biscayne, Fla.

Education Tax Suit Goes To Federal Court

OTTAWA, Ohio (AP) — Spokesmen for the Ohio Farmers Union said Friday that a federal court hearing on the organization's suit challenging the property tax as a means of financing education in the state will be held sometime this fall.

Representatives of the OFU, which claims 20,000 members in the state, met with officials of the state attorney general's office and a U.S. District Court judge in Toledo earlier this week.

Seven Caves, Adena Feature Ohio Tour

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of short tours of Ohio travel attractions prepared by Columbus Auto Club Travel Department for The Herald.

Southern Ohio in the vicinity of Chillicothe and Hillsboro has a variety of family attractions for this week's AAA suggested tour.

Adena, at Chillicothe (Ohio's first capital) was built in 1806 by Thomas Worthington, a U.S. Senator who later became Governor of Ohio.

This Georgian mansion, its outbuildings and beautiful grounds have been restored by the Ohio Historical Society. The grounds provide a view to the east of Mt. Logan, inspiration for Ohio's great state seal.

Among other Chillicothe attractions are the Ross County Museum, with four floors of exhibits including Ohio's constitution table, a pioneer wagon, Indian relics and the Chillicothe Gazette. The Gazette is the oldest newspaper west of the Alleghenies. Its building, a replica of the state's first capitol, houses a printing museum.

Traveling West of U.S. 50 is Seip Mound, built by the Hopewell Indians. The mound is 30 feet high and up to 250 feet at the base. A pavilion displays many interesting exhibits about the tribe's culture.

Bainbridge, for those who fear a cavity, is the site of a Dental Museum in the building which housed the first dental school (1826-1831). Exhibits of early dental technology are on display.

Seven Caves, also on U.S. 50, is an outstanding attraction with each cavern electrically illuminated with cement walks. Accessible from three foot trails, the caves can be toured without an escort in an hour.

Rocky Fork, near Hillsboro Pike, south of Bainbridge, and Scioto Trail, south of Chillicothe, are excellent state parks, different in character, with a wide array of outdoor facilities.

AAA suggests this routing to the tour area: From Circleville, go south on U.S. 23 to the tour area.

'Senator Sam' Finds Applause Lowering Tone Of Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. telling his Watergate spectators not to applaud is like a stripper telling her audience not to stare.

The "old country lawyer" with the dancing eyebrows and puckish grin is getting tough with his fans. They don't seem to mind—but they don't always listen, either.

The chairman of the Senate Watergate committee has become something of a folk hero to the more than 1,000 people each day who crowd in and drift out of the rear section of the Old Senate office building Caucus Room.

They cheer "Senator Sam" and boo his unworthy adversaries.

No one much minded at first when they laughed at his downhome North Carolina stories and cheered his Bible-based wisdom, but lately they have even taken to applauding his entrance after every recess.

"I am going to respectfully request the audience not to make any kind of a demonstration or indicate in any way their approval or disapproval of anybody or anything, including myself," Ervin told the spectators Wednesday.

The transcript of the afternoon session duly noted the chairman's admonition was followed by laughter.

But the spectator turnover is constant throughout the day. Ervin no sooner finishes scolding one crowd before another unprepared group has moved in to replace it.

Ervin, aware that the committee's constitutional confrontation with the White House has drawn it deeper into controversy, has sought to avoid having the hearings branded as a circus, and now makes it a practice to ask for audience silence every hour or two.

Old-Fashioned Branding Iron Still Used On Modern Ranch

PIEDMONT, S.D. (AP)— Some ranchers nowadays use chutes to move their calves into line to be branded. Then they clamp the animals onto tables before administering the red-hot branding iron.

But at the Bar Lazy U Ranch, calves still are branded by the old "rope and rassle" method.

First a rancher lassos the calf by his back feet, then drags him over to the "rasslers." The rasslers—usually a couple of teen-age boys—tangle with the calf until they have him stretched out on the ground. One of the boys holds the front legs, the other holds the hind legs.

Then the calves get vaccinated for a variety of diseases. The males are castrated. ("That makes 'em into steers," one ranch hand explained. "That way they're less aggressive in the feedlot and they just stand around and eat instead of chargin' up and down lookin' for girl calves").

The calves are heated by a propane torch. Then the rasslers let the calf loose and he goes running off to find his mamma.

The Peruvian Bobbie is known and valued for what goes in as well as what comes out. Flocks of these birds, as well as the Peruvian Cormorant, habitating the western coast of South America, might consume a thousand tons of fish each day, then convert it into an important natural fertilizer.

Leningrad Basks In Summer Sun

LENINGRAD, U.S.S.R. (AP) — This old Tsarist capital is on the same northern latitude as Seward, Alaska, and winter days are cold, dismal and dark.

But in the summer, when the northern hemisphere tilts toward the sun, there is daylight almost round the clock. And Leningraders savor their long summer days far more than people who live in southerly latitudes.

Summer in Leningrad is a time for soaking up the rays on a Neva river beach, playing chess under a tree in the summer garden beside the Hermitage Museum, rowing a boat up the Griboyedov Canal, and courting or window-shopping on the Nevsky Prospekt, the main boulevard.

The great times of the summer season are those long, long days around the summer solstice when the sun never drops more than about seven degrees below the horizon.

On June 21, longest day of the year, the sun dips tardily behind the classical facade of Leningrad State University across the Neva at around 10:30 p.m. It loiters just beyond the horizon and bathes the city in ghostly, pearly light until rising again at around 3:30 a.m.

Leningraders call this period from around June 11 to July 2 the "white nights."

During the white nights a few hardy fishermen wave their bamboo poles like wands over the silvery Neva, and plump dowagers promenaded along the embankment on their husbands' arms. But the white nights are mostly a time for the young.

Teen-agers stroll in the chilly salt air with guitars and transistor radios, celebrating their graduation from high school. Others gather under the trees near the statue of Peter the Great to listen to long-haired troubadours sing the songs they can't hear on Leningrad Radio.

By the time the sun bursts forth again in the early morning hours, the metropolis is deserted save for a few drunks trying to find their way home.

But in a few hours the city will be teeming again with sunstarved people trying to soak up as much as possible before the sun begins its journey southward, leaving Leningrad to cold and gloom.

Milk Memos Demanded

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge has ordered the Nixon administration to produce 67 secret memos concerning milk prices in a case a consumers' lawyer claims could have a bearing on Watergate documents.

U.S. District Court Judge William B. Jones on Friday turned down a White House claim of executive privilege and demanded to be shown the milk memos.

Jones said he would examine the documents privately before deciding whether they should be made public.

A number of consumer groups, including Ralph Nader's Public Citizens Inc., went to court to obtain access to the memos. The memos involve a case in which the Agriculture Department reversed itself to increase milk price supports.

William A. Dobrovir, attorney for the consumer groups, told reporters he believed the ruling has a "very direct" bearing on the Watergate case in which the Senate Watergate committee and special prosecutor Archibald Cox are seeking access to tape recordings and documents.

Like the milk memos, Nixon contends the Watergate-related tapes and documents are shielded by executive privilege.

Dayan May Bring Split In Party

JERUSALEM (AP) — With a cautious threat that he might resign, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan is campaigning to force the government to create a bigger Israel.

While some Israelis demand formal annexation of Arab land won in the 1967 war, Dayan wants to tighten Israel's grip on the occupied territories in another way—with Jewish settlements, real estate deals and factories.

To tie a knot between Israel and the territories he thinks the nation should keep, Dayan urges more integration of the Arab labor force into Israel's economy.

Dayan spelled out his demands recently in a speech to his supporters in the ruling Labor party. There is powerful opposition to his ideas in the party.

Dayan warned that he would "not be able to run for election with the Labor party" unless the government accepts his programs.

Political analysts immediately sniffed a split looming inside the ruling party, with the popular Dayan possibly running independently for the premiership in the national elections three months away. Premier Golda Meir has announced that she will seek reelection.

Israel captured 26,000 square miles of Arab land in the 1967 war, and an estimated 60,000 Arabs from those zones now work inside Israel on Israeli pay scales. Much of the land is empty desert which Israel willingly would give back under a peace pact.

But the Golan Heights, the southern shore of the Sinai Desert, parts of occupied West Jordan and the Gaza Strip could be useful to the Jewish state.

Dayan advocates settling more Jews in occupied territory, letting Jews buy land from Arabs, building Jewish industry in the zones and giving Arabs more jobs in Israel. Israel already has established 42 settlements in the occupied territories.

He argues that such expansion would help Israel strategically, give more chance for coexistence between Jews and Arabs and afford "an historic, one-time opportunity to fulfill Zionism."

The phrase echoed the belief of many Israelis that the occupied zones are part of the Promised Land of the Bible and, thus, part of Zionism, the doctrine of Jewish return to the homeland.

But Dayan's party superiors, including Mrs. Meir, are strictly opposed to his views. And they control the party machinery Dayan would need for any chance of winning the premiership.

Baby Selling Scheme Brings Arrest

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two persons were arrested and a third was being sought on federal charges in connection with a fraudulent interstate baby selling scheme, the FBI said.

Louis Frank Raucci, 43, and Joseph Rosa, 43, both of suburban Penn Hills, were arrested Friday and charged with conspiring to conceal their knowledge of the scheme allegedly operated by Mrs. Raucci from federal authorities.

First Asst. U.S. Atty. Blair A. Griffith, who presented the case to the federal grand jury which handed down the indictments, said Mrs. Raucci is charged with 12 counts of wire fraud involving the collection of more than $50,000, and interstate transportation of stolen goods. The FBI said Sunday night she had not yet been arrested.

The FBI claimed Mrs. Raucci contacted childless families in other states and offered to sell them children for costs ranging from $3,000-$8,000.

Agents said payment was accepted but that no infants were delivered. The FBI said Mrs. Raucci faces a maximum fine of $1,000 and five years in prison or both if convicted on fraud charges. Transportation of stolen property carries a maximum $10,000 fine and 10 years in prison.

Raucci and Ross face maximum penalties of $10,000 in fines or five years in prison if convicted on conspiracy charges.

Canada And Australia Boost Wheat Production For Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canada, traditionally a big wheat export competitor of the United States, could produce a whopping crop of 700 million bushels this year, the Agriculture Department said today.

That would be about one-third larger than 1972 production of approximately 535 million bushels.

Canadian farmers planted about 25 million acres last spring for harvest this year, short of the 28 million acre goal the government had in mind. Even so, according to the Foreign Agricultural Service, prospects look bright.

"The crop is tentatively estimated at 650 million bushels, but favorable weather could bring a record 28 bushels per acre yield for a total production as high as 700 million bushels in 1973," the FAS said in a report.

Australia also is expected to boost wheat production this year, possibly to 425 million bushels which would be the third largest crop on record, the agency said in its weekly Foreign Agriculture magazine.

Despite the increases, plus a record crop expected in the United States, world wheat supplies are expected to be on the short side during the coming year.

The department last week reported that the July 1 wheat carryover in the United States was 428 million bushels. That is considered a bedrock level to have as reserve in view of expected export demands, officials say.

Russia is producing more wheat than in 1972 but still is importing large quantities, including nearly 150 million bushels on order from the United States for delivery through mid-1974.

In a recent report by the Outlook and Situation Board of USDA, world wheat production this year was put at 10 per cent above 1972. But the report added that foreign stocks have been depleted and that "there is unusual uncertainty" about supplies available for export.

Thus, according to one spokesman, there seems to be little chance that larger crops in Canada, Australia and the Soviet Union will do much to dampen prices during the 1973-74 season.

17 Are Arrested In Cincy Incident

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Police charged 17 persons with trespassing Sunday night after they attempted to enter the University of Cincinnati's Nippert Stadium to see a rock music group.

Police estimated that approximately 8,000 persons attended the "Grand Funk Railroad" concert. They said the disturbance was started by persons who did not wish to pay the $6 admission fee.

Officials said no one was injured during a rock throwing incident.

Body Of Man Found Stuffed Inside Box

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Police here today were trying to identify the body of a man found stuffed in a cardboard box in a wooded area in the western part of the city Sunday.

Officers said the body was discovered by a bicyclist. Witnesses said the body was clad in a tee shirt and blue jeans.

No further details were immediately available.

Greek Junta Says 80 Per Cent Vote For New Republic

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — President George Papadopoulos today claimed a majority of more than 80 per cent in a referendum to determine how the Greek people felt about his heading the new Greek republic for the next seven years.

The voting Sunday also confirmed the military regime's dethronement of King Constantine and approved constitutional changes providing for election of a largely powerless parliament by next year.

With more than half of the votes counted, the Interior Ministry announced 2,877,557 in support of Papadopoulos' authoritarian regime and 558,453 against, or 83.7 per cent in favor of the president.

Leading opponents of the regime had appealed for a massive "no vote even though the government said its defeat would not change its course. After early returns ran overwhelmingly in favor of the regime, opponents conceded a top-heavy majority to it but questioned the validity of the count.

"No people in the world could have voted freely with such a one-sided percentage," said Panayiotis Canellopoulos, Greece's last parliamentary premier.

6 Ohioans Crash Victims

LYNN, Ind. (AP)—A young Ohio man, his wife and two of their three daughters were killed Sunday evening in a two car crash at the intersection of two Randolph County roads, just west of the Indiana-Ohio border.

State police identified the victims as James J. Hankins, 23, of Rt. 5, Union City, Ohio, his wife, Amy, 21, and their daughters Sherry, 3, and Sheila, 4. Another daughter, Shawna, 8 months, was hospitalized at Richmond, Ind., in critical condition.

The driver of the second car, Sharon E. Warvel, 24, Lynn, was reported in good condition.

Police said the two cars collided about one mile southeast of Lynn.

Two other young Ohio residents died in another Indiana accident Sunday. Leona Gray, 22, Hamilton, and Valerie Hatcher, 26, Dayton, were killed Sunday afternoon when their car flipped over onto the median of Interstate 64 near Fair Oaks in Jasper County, Ind. The women were thrown from the vehicle.

General Telephone Cables Are Cut

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Marion County sheriff's deputies today were continuing to investigate the cutting of four major telephone cables that isolated 380 homeowners in the northern part of the county for the second time in 24 hours.

Spokesmen for the General Telephone Co. said the cables were cut Sunday 600 feet from where repairmen had spliced them back together the night before.

The company says it has suffered $675,000 in damage since 2,800 workers went on strike July 16 in a dispute over wages. Contract talks are to resume Tuesday.

Fiddling Contests Draw Oldtimers

SHELBYVILLE, Ill. (AP) — While 600,000 young people converged on a rural western New York village for a rock music festival over the weekend, folks in central Illinois were leaving their farms for the community of Shelbyville to hear some fiddling.

More than 1,100 farmers, farmer's wives and country music lovers paid $1 each Saturday night to sit in the folding chairs and wooden stands in the gymnasium where the Shelbyville Rams play their high school basketball.

In Watkins Glen, N.Y., the music was provided by three rock groups, one with the macabre name of the Grateful Dead.

But in Shelbyville, the country fiddlers were people like Claude Coverstone of Newton, Cleve Fulton of St. Elmo, Burl Banning of Shelbyville and Oddie Griffith of Humboldt.

They stroked out tunes such as "Ol' Doc Henry," "Lop-Ear Mule" and "Boil Them Cabbages Down."

When it was all over, Bertha Bratton walked away with the state championship. She's a 59-year-old hometown woman who sells cosmetics door-to-door.

There were seven contestants for the over-70 division, four for the women and 18 for the OldTime Fiddling State Championship.

Ernest Ringo, who had parked his 1953 red Chevy pickup truck just outside the front door of the gym, introduced the judges, sequestered in a room out of sight of the stage.

"That way we feel there can't be any prejudice or anything like that, and they'll select the fiddler that plays the best," said the balding, white-haired president of the Illinois Old-Time Fiddlers Association.

Another fiddling contest in Craftsbury Common, Vt., didn't go quite as smoothly.

For 11 years, the tiny Vermont town has hosted an OldTime Fiddlers contest, drawing fiddlers from throughout New England and eastern Canada. But next year things may change.

There have been no guidelines and anyone with a fiddle and bow could step before the audience and play. Saturday, the contest's chief judge, Earl Wilson, shook his head in disgust at some of what he heard.

"We just haven't got the competition for an old-time fiddlers' contest anymore," said Wilson. He claimed the true fiddle music was being diluted by folk music and bluegrass, popular with the numerous young people in attendance.

"We're going to have to set some standards. We've either got to say, it's got to be a folk festival or an old-time fiddle contest," said Wilson, a retired Craftsbury farmer.

More than 11,000 people crowded the grassy meeting place in the center of Craftsbury, an area with a population of 632.

Bomb Halt Arguments Set Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall was scheduled today to hear arguments on a federal court ruling ordering a halt to U.S. bombing in Cambodia.

The case came to Marshall after the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals in New York stayed a decision by U.S. District Court Judge Orrin G. Judd. Judd's ruling would have stopped the bombing at 4 p.m. last Friday.

The appeals court blocked that ruling from taking effect and set a hearing for Aug. 13, two days before the Aug. 15 deadline for the bombing approved by Congress.

The American Civil Liberties Union, a plaintiff in the original case, asked Marshall to overturn the appeals' court ruling, reinstating Judd's original decision.

Marshall handles emergency appeals from the second circuit when the Supreme Court is in recess.

Rep. Elizabeth D. Holtzman, D-N.Y., and several Air Force pilots also were plaintiffs in the case. They had argued successfully before Judd that the Congress had not authorized the current bombing and that it must be halted.

Reds, Padres Split Twinbill

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Cincinnati's Reds' hopes of repeating as National League champions soared Sunday when they trotted out two sore-armed righthanders and managed a split of a doubleheader against the last place San Diego Padres.

Roger Nelson, 3-2, who couldn't pitch from May 28 to July 21 because of a lame elbow, gained credit for a 4-2 victory in the nightcap with two innings of relief help from Clay Carroll. It was the first victory since May 5 for the veteran who had an 11-6 record and a 2.08 earned run average last year at Kansas City.

In the first game, Gary Nolan, a 15-game winner for the Reds last year, made his first appearance of the season. He gave up four runs in as many innings. But manager George "Sparky" Anderson was highly encouraged even after a 7-1 loss to rookie San Diego lefthander Rich Troedson, 5-2.

"Nolan threw the ball well and his shoulder didn't bother him," Anderson said of the 25-year-old Californian. Nolan had spent the first five months of the season in the heat of Florida trying to work out miseries in his right shoulder.

"Nolan and Nelson both encouraged me. Now I think we're going to win again," Anderson said. "I would be sure of it if we still had Dave Concepcion," the regular shortstop who fractured an ankle a little more than a week ago.

Nolan was pleased with the way he threw, too. But he was upset because he walked four batters in the first inning and gave up three runs, one on a single by Gene Locklear and another on a sacrifice fly by Fred Kendall. He also gave up a third-inning homer to Nate Colbert, his 12th of the season.

Dave Roberts sewed up the game for the Padres in the fifth inning with a three-run homer, his ninth of the year, off Jim McGlothlin.

"I've never been that wild in my life, but I guess it's because this is the first game I've pitched since last year," said Nolan.

Nelson was happy to go seven innings, considering his long length of inactivity.

The Reds won the game for Nelson in the fourth with four runs and a 4-0 lead off loser Mike Caldwell, 3-12. Tony Perez and Nelson each singled home a run and the other two scored on a double by Denis Menke.

The Padres, idle today, wind up the homestand against San Francisco Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Chisox Win; Wood Scores 20th

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pitching his way to victory No. 20 wasn't what bothered Wilbur Wood. It was the waiting around for his Chicago teammates to wrap it up for him.

"It's too nerve-wracking to sit around and watch the game in the dugout," Wood said after becoming the first 20-game winner in the majors this year in the White Sox' 8-6 victory over the Minnesota Twins. "It's a lot easier to sit in the clubhouse with a cold beer and hear the game on the radio."

Wood's worries seemed justified. He'd already given up 11 hits, it was only the seventh inning and the Twins were making menacing noises. They kept making them when Cy Acosta came in and gave up two runs on a single by Jim Holt and a wild pitch that cut a four-run lead to two.

But Acosta fired a third strike past Danny Thompson, then shut out the Twins the rest of the way.

In the rest of the American League, the Detroit Tigers defeated Baltimore 8-3 and, in a quartet of doubleheaders, the Cleveland Indians swept Boston 8-2 and 6-2, the Milwaukee Brewers took two from New York 7-2 and 6-3, the Kansas City Royals grabbed a pair from California 7-0 and 7-6 in 11 innings and Texas split with Oakland, winning 3-0 before the A's took the nightcap 7-4.

Black Nips Reds In Mosquito All-Star Game

The Black Division team squeezed by the Red Division squad 9-8 in the Mosquito League All-Star game Sunday at Ted Lewis Park.

It was a hitters battle all the way with hits for the Black Division by Tommy Tomlinson with a homerun, two doubles and a single, Ralph Jones came up with three singles and Kevin Weaver with two singles.

Hits for the Red Division were supplied by Jeff Williams with a triple and a pair of singles, Todd Sarchet came up with a double. Chris Contino had two singles, Fred Pyles had two singles and Tim Lowery had a single.

The pitching combination of Ralph Jones, Tommy Tomlinson and Kevin Weaver won the game for the Black division, striking out 12 and walking eight while allowing 13 hits. Mark Humphry and Jeff Williams were the losing pitchers for the Red Division, fanning 13 and allowing 10 hits.

Logan Elm Sets Grid Conditioning

Head football coach Bob Stant has announced that a conditioning program will get underway Wednesday at the high school.

All grid candidates are requested to report at 9 a.m. dressed for action.

Tigers 8, Orioles 3
Frank Howard did the heavy hitting in Detroit's 8-3 triumph.

He clubbed a three-run homer in the fifth inning, the fourth in four games for the mammoth designated hitter.

Detroit also scored three times in the third on singles by Tony Taylor, Al Kaline and Willie Horton.

Indians 8-6, Red Sox 2-2

Gaylord Perry, notching his first victory since June 25, snapped a personal six-game tailspin in the Indians' 8-2 opening-game victory, then Tom Timmerman toyed with a nohitter for six innings before settling for a four-hitter in the 6-2 second-game triumph.

Brewers 7-6, Yanks 2-3

Dave May, extending his hitting streak to 23 games in the twin bill, GENERATION GAP — Curt Hix, 66, and Troy Monahan, 10, were the oldest and youngest golfers in the Father and Son Tournament Saturday at the Upper Lansdownes Golf Links. Curt and his son, Jack, carded a 70 to take honors in the handicap division of the tournament.

Upper Lansdowne Holds Tournaments On Weekend

A full weekend of golf was held at Upper Lansdowne Golf Links with a Father and Son tournament taking place on Saturday and a Husband and Wife event featuring Sunday play.

Gale and Mark Leatherwood fired an 81 to win the scratch division while Curt and Jack Hix captured the handicap division with a 70 in the Father and Son event.

Larry and Mark McFadden had an 89 for second spot in the scratch class while Dale and Glen Cline carded a 77 for second place in the handicap division.

Curt Hix was the oldest golfer in the tournament at the age of 66 while Tronny Monahan, 10 years old, was the youngest competitor in this 18-team field.

Gale Leatherwood's 38 was low gross for the fathers while George Hamrick and Joe Gibbs tied for low net with 35. Jack Hix was low gross for the sons over 20 with a 37 and Jerry Francis took low net with 38. Jim England fired a 42 to take low gross honors for sons under 20 while Mark McFadden and Bruce Hutchinson tied for low net with 37.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Scanlon fired a 31 to win low gross in the Husband and Wife tournament with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Walker carded a 32 for low net honors.

There will be a scramble tournament Saturday at Upper Lansdowne. Teams may choose their own partners and starting times. It is open to the public and teams may sign up at the golf shop on the day of the tournament. Further information may be obtained by calling Harry Hoffer, 983-2989.

Atomic Speedway Mishap Claims Life Of Driver

Tragedy hit Atomic Speedway Saturday night, when an accident on the 33rd lap of the sprint feature race claimed the life of popular racing driver Sam Erwin from Portsmouth. Erwin was running forth coming out of the first turn, when the field got too close, causing Erwin to flip four to five times. He was a veteran of 17 years at the Atomic Speedway and participated at other speedways throughout the Mid-West. Sam was well-liked by all his rearing peers and fans, and he will be greatly missed. This was the first fatality at the Atomic Speedway in many years.

The Super Sprint 50-lap feature had to be stopped with the red flag on two occasions.

On the third lap Jake Dyke of Waverly, Ohio, received injuries when his car was airborne between turns three and four. He was treated at the Chillicothe Hospital and released.

Winner of the feature was Junior Smalley of Waverly, followed by George Harbour, Larry McPeak, Spike Spears, and Charlie McCann.

Heat winners were Pappy Singleton of Manchester, and Joe Frazier of Chillicothe.

Brown Wants All To Play In Exhibition

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Bengal Coach Paul Brown said Sunday he will try to see what everyone can do in Saturday's opening exhibition game with the World Champion Miami Dolphins.

"We'll play a lot of people these first four games," Brown said, "and then start playing the veterans and preparing for the final two preseason games like we do in the regular season."

After studying films of Saturday's annual intrasquad scrimmage between the offense and defense, Brown said they showed "nothing startlingly difficult to correct."

"We saw the middle linebacker able to shoot through in the early part, but it's nothing we can't remedy," Brown said.

Brown said the play of the offense particularly impressed him in their 9-0 win. "I think it showed we can move the football," Brown said.

Saturday the Bengals gained 379 yards in 72 plays while in 1972 80 plays produced only 184 yards.

Weiskopf Canadian Golf Victor

MONTREAL (AP) — Tom Weiskopf talked about football and patience in the wake of his Canadian Open golf victory.

"I can think back to years ago when I probably would have panicked," he said Sunday after Bobby Cole's charging challenge fell short and Weiskopf scored his fifth victory in eight starts with a steady, two-under-par 70.

"It's like football," he said. "You've got to have patience and follow your game plan."

The 6-foot-3 Weiskopf, suddenly the outstanding performer in pro golf, scored by two strokes over young Forrest Fezler with a 278 total, 10-under-par on the 6,905-yard Richelieu Golf Club course.

Fezler, a 23-year-old tour sophomore looking for his first pro triumph, started the final round one shot back and finished second alone, two behind. He had a final 71 for 280.

Cole, a skinny little South African, made the biggest challenge in the final round. Playing about two hours in front of Weiskopf, Cole birdied the first five holes, turned in a six-under-par 30, had it seven under for the day at one point but finished with a 66-281.

Hale Irwin, second in his last previous start, was fourth alone at 282 and Chuck Courtney was at 283. Australian Bruce Crampton, still the season's leading money-winner with more than $240,000, was one of four at 284.

Arnold Palmer bogeyed the last two holes for a 70-285 while Lee Trevino said so-long after a shaky, 290 effort. He withdrew from next week's Westchester Classic and said he may not play in the PGA National Championship the following week.

"I'm going home to be with my wife," Trevino said.

Weiskopf, for years a moody, sometimes temperamental man, has put together one of the most remarkable records of recent years in the last three months.

Winner Disqualified In River Downs Race

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Disqualification of Cause No Trix permitted runnerup Bridge Day to claim the first half of Saturday's two featured races at River Downs.

The victory by Cause No Trix was rejected by track officials on grounds of repeated intimidation.

Bridge Day was awarded the victory and paid $5.60, $4.00 and $2.80 with a time of 1:32 2-5 for the 7 1/2 furlongs. Cause No Trix returned $6.60 and $4.00. Fire Water showed at $3.00.

Len-Lee took the second half of the feature over the same course in 1:32 3-5. The victor paid $20.60, $9.20 and $5.60.

Cubs, Pirates Hit Break-Even

BY HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates reached a couple of break-even points Sunday which they hope will help them come out on top of the National League East in October.

The Cubs, whose losing ways reached 13 of 15 games when they bowed to the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3 in their doubleheader opener, salvaged a split by taking the nightcap 5-4 with a three-run rally in the seventh inning capped by Billy Williams' RBI single.

"That's the happiest I've been to split a doubleheader in a long time," said Manager Whitey Lockman. "I wouldn't call it a disaster if we had lost, but it would have been pretty bad. We'd have been 4 1/2 out instead of 2 1/2."

The Pirates, meanwhile, used home runs by Willie Stargell in the first game and Bob Robertson and Manny Sanguillen in the nightcap for a pair of 5-2 victories over the Philadelphia Phillies and reached the .500 mark—50-50—for the first time since June 5. They have won nine of 11 and trail the Cardinals by four games.

Elsewhere, the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the San Francisco Giants 6-2, the Cincinnati Reds lost their opener to the San Diego Padres 7-1 but won the nightcap 4-2, the Houston Astros beat the Atlanta Braves 8-5 and the Montreal Expos shaded the New York Mets 6-4.

Dodgers 6, Giants 2
Willie Crawford drove in three runs with a homer and a tie-breaking double in the eighth inning and Steve Garvey added a three-run homer to power Andy Messersmith and the Dodgers to victory.

Trailing 2-0, the Dodgers snapped a 17-inning scoreless streak in the bottom of the fourth when Joe Ferguson walked and Crawford hit his ninth homer of the year.

Padres 7-2, Reds 1-4

The Reds trotted out a couple of sore-armed pitchers and got a solid performance from Roger Nelson and a spotty showing from Gary Nolan.

Naughty Willie Wins Latonia Feature

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Naughty Willie took command with a stretch drive to win the featured invitational mile pace at Latonia in 1:58 3-5 Saturday night.

The winner paid $10.20, $3.80 and $3.20. Miles To Go returned $2.60 and $2.60. Hurry Home showed at $4.20.

Chico Dan D and Golden Warrior, 9-3, paid $88 in the daily double.

Handle was $197,129 from the crowd of 3,208.

The Kansas City Athletics are using Hal McRae as their "designated hitter" for pitchers. McRae hit well in two World Series for Cincinnati.

from May 28 until July 21, hurled seven strong innings, allowing one unearned run, to win the nightcap. The Padres spoiled Nolan's 1973 debut by scoring three runs on only one hit in the first inning of the opener.

Astros 8, Braves 5

Tommy Helms delivered a tie-breaking two-run double in the eighth inning and then scored on Tommie Agee's double.

Darrell Evans blasted his 28th home run, a two-run shot in the seventh, to put the Braves ahead 5-4 but the Astros tied it in their half on Cesar Cedeño's double and Bob Watson's single.

Expos 6, Mets 4

Ron Fairly's tie-breaking two-run single capped a three-run eighth-inning rally. The Expos tied the game when Ken Singleton singled and Bob Bailey doubled, then loaded the bases against Ray Sadecki on two walks before Fairly singles.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when a considerable amount of confusion exists as to how best to let others know you like them and want to do some thoughtful things for them. Asking with a friendly smile what your associates expect of you gives you better answers than you could think of.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr 19) Improve order in your surroundings now and do kind things for others without making them feel beggarly. Add new items to your wardrobe. Have a delightful time with persons you like a great deal.

TAURUS (Apr 20 to May 20) Being with persons you like a great deal can bring fine recreation and much happiness. Be cordial with everyone. Creative work is excellent if you plan each step wisely first.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't get into any arguments at home, or there could be serious trouble. Using care in all you do is excellent. Don't discuss that strange situation today with kin, since another day would be far better.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get at that shopping and errands without further procrastination, but use care in motion and with finances. Read some communication over twice so you get the true meaning. Avoid one who talks nonsense.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) You want to add much to present holdings and can do just that by wise investments. Check that bill you do not feel sure about. Make certain your home is in excellent order and is clean.

VIRGO (Aug 22 to Sept 22) You find it difficult to make those decisions of an important nature, so stick to less vital matters. If you show others you like them, all works out to your benefit. Think constructively.

LIBRA (Sept 23 to Oct 22) Sit down and reflect upon the happenings around you, but do not state your views. Handle all those duties that are yours with real dispatch. Go over your idealistic concepts in the evening. Put them to good use.

SCORPIO (Oct 23 to Nov 21) Some friend may state ideas now that are not correct about you, so be sure you correct them immediately. Plan to attend a social function that can lead to interesting conversations, benefits. Do some friend a big favor.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 to Dec 21) Plan time to straighten out credit or career matter early in the a.m. Don't jeopardize your position with bigwigs. Show your affection for those you like and gain more goodwill.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan 20) You may not fully understand the conditions about you, but careful analysis will make you see them clearly. Show patience with one who boasts a good deal. Smile more and you tone down this person.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb 19) Get busy taking care of responsibilities, particularly those of an official nature. Mate's views may not be yours, so don't give in to them if they are way out. Don't get into any arguments, though.

PISCES (Feb 20 to Mar 20) You could be at variance with the views of an associate, but don't take anything for granted; wait for better time for finer understanding. Have confidence in higher-up who is in public life. Steer clear of some sneaky newcomer.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who has to have duties to perform early in life to keep him or her out of mischief and to feel wanted and a worthwhile member of society. The hard worker is definitely in this chart, and a college education may not be desired since the emphasis is on making money starting early in life and keeping steady to profession decided upon. A business college training would be ideal here. Sports are a must.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Views On Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — On the Sunday last January when everyone was focusing on the Super Bowl at the Coliseum, a movie crew was staging a goldtruck heist on a deserted street not far away.

On a recent morning at 3 o'clock, another crew was in Westlake Village winding up a film about a counterfeit operation run from inside a prison.

Those are just two of the films you will be seeing this fall on a new anthology series, "The ABC Suspense Movie," set for Saturday nights.

"We've really been scrambling to get things on the screen," said Harve Bennett, who is producing four and possibly five shows for the 90-minute series. "The writers' strike has us all in a box. I've got two in the can and two in script form. When the strike ended June 24, it was everybody at the oars."

Bennett, 42, formerly producer of "The Mod Squad," turned out the prototype for the series, "The Alpha Caper," a gold heist comedy starring Henry Fonda.

His second, just completed, is "Money To Burn," another caper story of a counterfeit ring with an inside man—inside a prison. But don't get the idea all of the shows will be comedy; most will be straight suspense and mystery.

When the anthology show was first conceived, it was to be called "Crime." The pilot was called "Crime: The Alpha Caper."

Bennett said, "It was to be about crime and criminals, but I think ABC felt if we did too many criminal stories they would be sympathetic to criminals. 'The Alpha Caper' is about lovable criminals—but you can get away with that only once or twice a year. 'The 'Suspense' title gives us more ways to swing," he said. "Speaking as a producer and a writer, as long as you're doing an anthology, the fewer the restrictions the better. But no matter what you call it, it's going to be a Saturday night movie."

Recommended tonight: "Goodnight America," at 11:30 p.m. on ABC, billed as "a second generation TV magazine." Reporter Geraldo Rivera takes a look at the rise and breakup of the Beatles, migrant workers, rock queen Carole King and babies born heroin addicts. It probably will find its biggest audience among the under-30 viewer, but it merits watching by all ages because of Rivera's brand of involved and personal journalism.

Solons OK Pay Hike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State legislators early Saturday left several of Gov. John J. Gilligan's top priority proposals pending, but voted themselves a pay raise before adjourning until Aug. 27.

Among the governor's pet proposals left in limbo was a code of ethics bill Gilligan has called his No. 1 legislative priority.

The lawmakers voted themselves a pay raise and hiked the salary of the governor and other elected officials along with judges throughout the state.

Senators and representatives were increased from $14,000 a year to $17,500 a year. Leaders of the two chambers would be able to move up to as high as $25,000 for the House speaker and majority leader of the Senate.

Under the bill, the salary of the governor would be raised from $40,000 to $50,000 a year and the lieutenant governor's salary would be raised to $30,000 from $17,000.

The measure raises the salaries of the attorney general, auditor, secretary of state and treasurer from $24,000 a year to $38,000.

The pay of the chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court will be hiked from $30,000 to $40,000. The state appellate court judges were raised from $28,000 to $37,000.

Common pleas and probate judges, who now earn from $14,000 to $26,000, will move up to a range of $23,000 to $34,000. Municipal judges will make between $21,000 and $31,000. They now earn from $10,000 to $23,000.

In addition to the code of ethics bill, the legislature also failed to act on a pair of key administration bills increasing unemployment benefits and establishing a minimum wage for Ohio workers not covered under federal statutes.

The unemployment compensation bill is to go to a joint conference committee of the Senate and House when the lawmakers return for what leaders term a "working session" Aug. 27. A skeleton session for bill signing and other routine duties is scheduled for Aug. 14.

Several other major pieces of legislation were completed during the session that wound up shortly after midnight. A top administration proposal to ban the so-called cognovit note was included among those proposals.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A grinding three-car crash in Portage County that killed three people and hospitalized 11 others Sunday night boosted Ohio weekend traffic deaths to at least 16.

The smashup on Ohio 18 just east of Edinburg was the only multiple-fatality of the weekend, which began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The injured were taken to Robinson Memorial Hospital, where their conditions ranged from fair to critical. The hospital ran short of blood, and the Ohio Air National Guard used a helicopter to rush a supply from the Red Cross in Cleveland, an official said.

Other weekend victims included a bicyclist, a pedestrian and two motorcyclists.

Cognovit notes allow a creditor to go into court against a delinquent consumer and obtain a judgement without the consumer's knowledge.

The last legislature prohibited the cognovit note in most types of transactions, but left it permissible in automobile purchases. The new law will ban it from those transactions also.

Final action was also completed on the impacted cities bill which allows cities to bring private capital into efforts to eliminate blighted areas. However, the measure was stripped of a provision, sought by sponsors, to let private developers utilize the power of eminent domain to acquire land.

Rock Festival Draws 600,000

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (AP) — Promoter Shelly Finkel likes the Grand Prix race track where his weekend rock festival attracted 600,000 fans. He says he'd like to use it again for another festival in six weeks.

But try convincing local officials and townspeople of this rural western New York village they need another massive bottleneck of cars and people such as the one caused by the aptly named "Summer Jam."

By nightfall Sunday, nearly all the young people had left the track and only 1,000 acres strewn with garbage remained as testimony to the event that surpassed in size the 1969 Woodstock festival and was the biggest ever held in the United States.

A few hundred campers lingered, some of them searching for tents, cars, friends or pets lost in the earlier confusion.

"Summer Jam" started more than a week ago as people began trickling into the track for a leisurely wait for concert time Saturday.

On Thursday and Friday, the trickle became a tide, engulfing nearly all roads in the Watkins Glen vicinity.

When the Grateful Dead band opened the concert with "Sweet Magnolia" Saturday noon, about 600,000 persons had managed to reach the track area. Most of them pressed to get within at least hearing distance of the performers.

Finkel, 28, of New York City, who with partner Jim Koplik, 23, started organizing the concert in February, called the jam a tremendous success. "We think things went incredibly well in terms of all the extra people we never expected," he said.

Asked why the turnout was three times what he anticipated, Finkel credited it to the drawing power of the groups — the Dead, The Band and the Allman Brothers.

"Also people wanted the experience of a big concert," he said. "The memory of Woodstock was certainly there."

Many people who attended said no one at the gates had bothered to check them for the $10 ticket. Finkel said he had suspended ticket checking when traffic started to build at the entrances.

Finkel said he was not yet sure whether he had made a profit. "I hope so," he smiled. He estimated his gross at $1.5 million and his expenses at $1 million.

He admits that a second show awaits further negotiation with the track owner, local and state officials and the entertainers.

Schuler County Sheriff Maurice F. Dean praised the youthful visitors as well behaved. But as for a second concert, he said, "The people will never allow it."

"Some of the farmers are boiling over about their fields' being trampled," he said. "And a lot of the more conservative folks just don't like seeing some of the things these kids do."

The behavior Dean referred to ranged from open drug usage and drunkenness to uninhabited romancing and a few instances of nudity.

Mr. Harold Templeton states Kroger's discount pricing policy.

Mr. Harold P. Templeton, Vice President of the Columbus Division, states "Kroger has been and continues to be the leader in offering the best total value to food shoppers in the area."

"Kroger will continue to offer the popular combination of low discount prices, better weekly sale prices, and our own high quality money-saving brands which has made us the number one choice of consumers in this area."

He hastens to point out however, that shoppers do not pick a food store on savings alone. Quality is equally important to a food chain because it is equally important to most shoppers.

House Brands necessary?
They certainly are!

In today's economy and era of consumerism, money-saving values on top level quality, House brands or Private Labels, is the biggest asset our customers have to keep their food costs down.

We produce many of our own label product and contract for the balance. Quality standards are kept at the highest level of that product's category. Our top label products are U.S. Grade A Fancy.

Variety in private labels offers our customers the advantage of a wider selection of products to enhance her menu planning.

Today's standards in our industry insure that the private label quality is as good as, if not better, than most other like items in the product group.

We also believe "name" brands are necessary, too! This gives our customers a twofold advantage in making her selection at the lowest possible price.

Because we believe shopping should be a rewarding fun experience...

KROGER DOES MORE THAN YOU'D EXPECT!

Of course you expect a food store to offer you friendly service, extra saving weekly specials, quality products at low, low shelf prices. The folks at Kroger have dedicated themselves to doing just that. But we try to do more than you'd expect... like free Ohio State Tumblers. Discount tickets to King's Island... Half price reserve seats to Holiday On Ice... like innovating and creating consumer aids. Like providing you with easy to understand "Unit Price" labels on most grocery items. Like making extra efforts to insure consistent quality of fine foods with "Open Dating" on over 1300 products (more to come).

Depend on us to look for more ways — better ways — to serve you, our customer. We've always been proud to bring you the little extras that result in a more rewarding shopping experience. We also "Thank You" with Top Value Stamps — for gifts you otherwise might not get. And we enjoy it. It's rewarding for us, too!

When it comes right down to it, you are the whole reason Kroger does more than you'd expect!

KROGER PRODUCT WINS CONSUMER CONFERENCE OKAY

The Consumer Conference of Greater Cincinnati is the oldest and largest consumer organization in the country — founded 39 years ago. They do not give endorsements lightly. Yet, after investigating Kroger's Pro (formerly Burger-Pro) Beef and Hydrated Textured Vegetable Protein Mix, they wrote:

"Our Board has endorsed this product. You may include 'Approved by the Consumer Conference of Greater Cincinnati.' This is a much-needed product at this time and Kroger led the way."

Kroger's Pro is one of the ways we are trying to help you stretch your meat dollars without sacrificing flavor or protein. This ground mixture of 75% beef and 25% hydrated textured vegetable protein, as nutritious as beef at a lower cost, is winning approval from shoppers across the country.

We can do little about the retail price of meat until our wholesale costs go down. And that can't happen until agricultural supply becomes balanced with consumer demand.

In the meantime, this is one more way WE HEAR YOU and we're trying to help!

P. H. Kroger's Tea and Grocery Stores

90th ANNIVERSARY

CELEBRATION

In Cincinnati, 1883

BARNEY KROGER STARTED ON $722.00

B. H. (Barney) Kroger, having worked on a farm, later selling groceries door-to-door, opened his first store at 66 Pearl Street in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1883. Barney was then 23 years old. He had saved $372 and borrowed $350 for a total of $722 to start what he called "The Great Western Tea Company," later to be known as "Kroger." It was a hard life. His horse and wagon were soon lost to an accident. The Ohio river overflowed and his complete stock was a loss. He would solicit orders in the day and deliver them at night. However his energy and hard work in time began to pay off. He personally saved 90 percent of his earnings to put back into the store.

B. H. Kroger believed in quality. He often would inspect and taste everything himself. He sold no shoddy merchandise and he tried in short, to be more particular than his most particular customer.

Two years later, in 1885, Barney Kroger had managed to open three more stores and found himself in the chain store business. At first he used his family to manage the other stores but soon went on the outside for help. He was fortunate in choosing men. He drove them hard, but he drove himself even harder.

He still solicited! He still delivered! One day calling on a woman at her door, Barney asked her for her coffee order. He was met with a refusal. His coffee, she said, didn't taste good and besides, she was having a party—her house was full of friends, so would he please go away. Barney told her he knew his coffee was good. It must not have been prepared correctly. Would she let him demonstrate? He'd be glad to serve her guests free. Her friends by that time were peering around the corner and urging her to let the young man try. Reluctantly, Barney was let in. The pot must be very clean, he said, and his hostess blushed. He explained how to brew coffee correctly and then served the product. It was delicious. His hostess was enraged—but her guests were secretly delighted.

Barney was a pioneer in food advertising. He took ads which, at that time, were remarkably similar to grocery ads today. Barney was an innovator, too. He was one of the first to have meat departments in his stores.

By 1902, Kroger had 40 stores in Cincinnati. By 1910 the chain had extended to Dayton, with fifteen stores, and Columbus, with eight. Later, stores were added in Springfield, Toledo, Detroit, Indianapolis and St. Louis.

Today, all of us at Kroger, salute our founder on the 90th Anniversary of his idea.

OPEN DATING

Kroger Extends Open Dating To Cover Fresh Meats and Produce

Kroger is making it easier for supermarket shoppers to see for themselves the freshness of meats and produce before they buy, states Jerry Thole, Columbus division manager of retail operations.

Mr. Thole announces that all area Kroger stores will be using easily-read dates (such as Aug. 6) on fresh fruits and vegetables and on meats as an aid to shoppers this month.

The date is a freshness date which indicates the final day on which a product may be sold so that it will remain at fresh quality for an average usage period (or longer) in the consumer's home after purchase.
